LIVE MUSIC
fills, keeps and sells.

People don't remember the décor or every detail of the menu: they remember how they felt. And few things change the mood of a room like a guitar playing live, two metres from the table.

An audience I know well: I spent four years playing in the UK. That's where I learnt which songs lift an English room and which ones make it go quiet to listen. And with over 20 years on the Spanish scene, Spanish audiences are home turf.
